

Holiday Property Insurance - Cover Needed?

All holiday homes should be covered by a sufficient insurance policy. If you wish to rent out your foreign property as a holiday vacation rental you must ensure you have a comprehensive insurance policy which includes public liability cover.

I already have insurance cover for my holiday home rental - You will need to check with your insurance provider that your existing policy has public liability cover.

Why do I need "Public Liability insurance" cover for my holiday rental property? Public Liability cover is important if you are renting your holiday property to paying guests. Public Liability cover ensures you are covered for any accidents to people whilst they are staying in your property and using the equipment provided. You will need to check that your existing policy has public liability cover.
